Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

 Claims 1 – 15 and 18 – 19, drawn to an injection molding apparatus with a seal and a biasing element, classified in class 425, subclass 563.

II. Claims 16 – 17, drawn to a method of sealing the interface between a manifold and nozzle, classified in class 264, subclass 328.15.

Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the apparatus of Group I, in which there is located a seal between the interface of the nozzle and manifold does not require that the seal be movable in an axis parallel to a melt path flow, as required in the method claims. In addition, the biasing element for the apparatus of Group I is necessary to maintain a continuous sealing pressure between the manifold and nozzle members, whereas the method claims require providing a biasing element to generate a seal pressure around the melt channels of the seal and at least one of the manifold and the nozzle, not both or between the manifold and the nozzle members.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. In addition, because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above – the features of the apparatus claims as described above are not necessary in the method claims – and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Application/Control Number: 10/775,154

A telephone call was made to Atty. Linda Horner on April 10, 2006 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
